LLOYD NELSON

South move into 1983 grand final

(BY DAVID KEMPE)

South Augusta won their way into the 1983 grand final with a solid 38-point win over Solomontown. The Bulldogs led for most of the day, but really moved it on with a power display in the final term, as they kicked seven goals to Sollies' two. Conditions were wet and overcast at the start of the day and deteriorated as the match progressed. South won the toss and kicked with the three to four breeze to the highway end. They started very strongly, running the ball into attack. They started very strongly, running the ball into attack. They started very strongly, running the ball into attack.

Gavin Leske reduced that to two points at the two minute mark of the final term; and it looked as if the Cats would get a run on. But it was South coach, Dennis Russell, who kicked vital goals from strong marks at the five and seven minute marks and gave South the impetus they needed. A further goal to veteran Craig Cock gave South breathing space they needed at the 17-minute mark.

South kicked four goals in the closing stages, to one from Sollies, to run out 38-point winners.

For South, captain coach Dennis Russell, was outstanding. He marked strongly in the wet conditions. His defensive work, a kick behind the play in the third quarter, was exceptional, he read the play
