South scramble home in low standard game

South veteran, Pat Hynes, showed all his skills on Saturday as he steered South Augusta to victory at Memorial Oval by 13 points.

The game was not of a high standard as many ball handling errors crept into the game and neither side being able to take advantage of this.

The spectators (all 450 of them) witnessed a scramble game. Port opened the game looking strong marks in the forward area but could only manage 2.5 for the day.

South's Tony Everet came onto the ground off the inter-change bench and immediately got into the action snapping a goal from an impossible angle to put South 15 points up.

Port wingman John Leal was doing his utmost in keeping the ball in Port's forward line as he showed his undoubted ability. Half time scores South 5.10, Port 3.13.

South eventually ran out winners by 13 points but unless both

South bows out

Solomontown won its way into its third consecutive SGL grand final with a convincing 75 point win over South Augusta.

The Cats completely dominated the game, with its run and aggressive approach which put South off its game. South also had key playmakers Pat Hynes and Rob Rozee sidelined early in the game with head injuries. It was left to the South link players to create the opportunities. These players were unable to get into the game.

In the first term South was out-ward, Mick Corey to the centre and defender Ashleigh Dunkley to centre half forward. These moves began to have some affect late in the quarter. But in the meantime Sollies had extended its lead to 64 points.

The Cats continued to dominate the game in the final term extending its lead to 91 points in the middle parts of the term. Late goals to South reduced the final margin to 75 points.

Sollies best was the classy Rick Anderson. One of the trio of Medians
