

South just too good

Lions taken apart in clinical display of footy

By Brenton Hebert
Port Pine football reporter

South Augusta added to the Lions' 2005 woes when they systematically trounced the struggling cellar-dweller to the tune of 156 points in warm but perfect conditions for football at Memorial Oval on Saturday afternoon.

The Lions had reason to put in a good performance with a good performance against Central the week before. Shannon Edwards celebrating his 150th game and the welcome return of Daniel Sedell who had not played for the club in over a season.

However, this all amounted to nothing as South came out with all guns blazing. The pace provided by the likes of Brett Jones and Trevor Hanes gave the Lions no opportunity to get into any sort of flowing play and by mid-way through the third term the game became little more than one way traffic for the visitors.

South jumped the Lions early and controlled the play for much of the opening quarter. For much of the first stanza the Lions' mid-fielders, in Marc and Andrew Compton, Tom Harner and Ollie Simonsen were getting good use of the ball but the Lions failed badly across half-forward where South set up countless attacking moves.

The coaches have their say on 2005

Looking to repeat 2004 success

In his fifth year as a grade coach with South Augusta, Gary Kernahan hasn't lost any determination to walk away with the 2005 flag.

It's been a tough journey for the South Augusta Bulldogs.

After a hard fought win over Central Augusta in last year's preliminary final, the boys from South narrowly missed out on premiership glory, going down to the Port Bulldogs in the 2004 grand final.

"Obviously we like to improve on last year and we aim as always to be in the finals," Kernahan said.

"Our pre-season hasn't been the best though."

"Though other sports like cricket and basketball our training has been interrupted as I think we'll be lacking a bit of match fitness, but we're going into the first few months but we'll be working on that in the next few weeks."

Had it still be something of a baptism of fire in the first round, with the Bulldogs taking on the much touted West Augusta, Kernahan said.

The South squad has remained stable since last season, with only a few changes to the line up.

Returning to local football is Ben Bass, and making the step up from the junior ranks is Simon Brushnahan, with club stalwart Chris Heritage retaining the captaincy.

"We've been fairly lucky because we haven't lost too many of our experienced players, and we're going to continue our policy of playing kids and those that really want to play a grade footy."

"Those players who are obviously training hard and show the desire to play in the A's will probably get a go," Kernahan said.

Holly Richards will take on the role of coaching the B grade squad and Mark McKell will once again coach under 14s.

GARY KERNAHAN will back partners with the desire to play in the A grade.

players missing but neither side was using this as an excuse.

Wolves through their coach Ken Williams, who played in some discomfort kicked the goal of the game, followed up miraculously by another from Chris Goodwin who was a centre-half forward. Centrales who some drive out of centre goals for a kick of the doubtful kind followed by a metre penalty because the football was in the game wrong. Mark Edwards McDonald followed up with another free kick. Myles came off a wiper. Curnow got one as a result of poor play. Centrales had recovered to hold a 1-0 lead at quarter time.

In the second quarter the game was largely between the half back line. The quarter became a match of wills. Pannach, who blanketed Pannach for most of the game, was outstanding, his rebounding was outstanding. Allen and Goodwin with Kristian coming off the bench for immediate impact. Centrals added a point during the third quarter. Probably were lucky to go in at 10 points down.

Simon Nowak shepherd Higginbottom chasing became a skirmish that apparently became a full-on brawl, which resulted in both players being sent off twice and consequently sent from the field. The current climate with football ending up in courtrooms perhaps is a sign that it is time to do more of this.

Wolves through Allen kicked in the second half which then shook the life. Curnow and Clayton Crowther combining in three goals.

Bulldogs draw blood

2006 YEAR -

By Sean HOLDEN

Billed as one of the most eagerly awaited clashes for the season the last minor round, Bulldogs versus Bulldogs, was a massive win for the red and whites.

Rapidly and worryingly for the Bulldogs the League side that played on Sunday looks decidedly different from that which took to the field in round one.

The defensive wall across halfback for coach Prentice has gone from The Great Wall of China to the Maginot Line.

Chas McGrath moved to the UK whilst Paul Higginbottom and Chad McKnight are moving less freely thanks to injuries.

To add to the mire midfield lynchpins Reece Blaschke, out for the season, and seasoned follower Sawford was missing through work commitments.

Up forward the competition's number one centre-half-forward Anthony Ruffles is out for at least six weeks, full forward Jason Harland a week-to-week proposition and 1991 Madigan Medalist Shane Currow also consulting doctors.

Just as Centrals are dipping deep into the reserves and Under 18 teams the Bulldogs are experiencing quite the reverse.

Hit hard with injury for the best part of the season South's have secured a top four

South decimate Port

By Sean HOLDEN

All year one man has stood head shoulders above the rest of the Bulldogs - Jar Rivers. He was in the line-up for the Bulldogs' first round match against the Port. He was in the line-up for the Bulldogs' first round match against the Port.

South looked static with little imagination as Jones limped off with an injury.

Mudge goalied to hand the Bulldogs the lead and by the time Remphrey posted a point in time on, Port had a five point advantage as time was called.

In stark contrast to the first term South Augusta completely dominated the second with seven goals for the quarter and six of those coming within a 12 minute blitz.

This was a footballing clinic by the South midfield despite Port traffic and things got a whole lot worse for the Greens when Remphrey limped off with a hamstring strain.

The South goal kicking machine Bradley Amos slotted two impossible goals from the far TAFE pocket only to be outdone late in the term by Shillabeer who whilst being tackled from outside fifty and off two steps raised two flags.

At this point no-one would have blamed Port for packing it in and going home it was obviously not going to be their day.

In truth for the rest of the match it appeared that most of the Port players if not physically but certainly mentally had themselves already on the bus thinking about what might have been as the intensity and commitment dropped off alarmingly.

They had no answer for Struck, Adam and Matt Grantham and were in particular and most certainly no clue and no hope in stopping Amos.

The 2006 battle of the Dogs had been won by the Port Augusta team and in so doing secured the grand final for Port Augusta.

Musta coaches have their say on season 2007 ...

South Augusta are the side to beat

All of the SGL coaches agree on one thing, and that is that the South Augusta side will this year be the side to beat.

But, according to coach, Gary Kernahan, that doesn't mean anything.

"We went the measuring stick last year, but that doesn't mean anything to us, we are just ready to go and we're looking forward to the competition," he said.

Kernahan said players like Robert Barnes, Chris Horro, Adam and Matthew Grantham, Daniel Dehan and Simon Broadbent would be hard to beat due to their versatility.

"All of these boys are fairly versatile and can play at either end of the ground," he said.

Kernahan said that while the preseason had been going fairly well for the team, the real competition was yet to start.

"I don't put too much emphasis on the preseason as long as the players get fit enough, next week's when the season starts," he said.

Kernahan said that Central and West would be worthy opponents for the team.

"Centrals will be strong, no doubt about that," he said.

"West will have a young and enthusiastic side, so they'll be around the mark, and we've yet to see what Pirie have got to offer."

Comments from a premier player's captain

Despite Scott Augustin's winning formula for 2006, the team would have to fight hard to take home the flag for a second year, says Chris Herold as he talks with the captain.

"I think we'll be up against it," he says.

"It had enough to win on, but we had to be a little more aggressive than we were last year," says Augustin. "I think we had a good season and would remain that way this season."

"I think we had some of the best runners in the league," he says, "and one that we can't do is hard running side, and skiffed."

"Most of them (players) have all come through camps, and are home grown kids that have come through the system," he said.

Herold says many players in the league have come through the system, but he says the team has to be more aggressive in the playoffs.

"We have to go in there to play quick, skilled football. Bradley [Augustin] has the worst skill in the last four games during our run to the final last year," he said.

And, according to Herold, Augustin at the top last season was a threat, so Herold has a other way to win.

"We have to go in there and win the game," he says.

"It's never been that way in the past."

SQL looks forward to 2007

SQL President, Ken Jeffrey said the league was looking forward to the 2007 season's bout of new competition and exciting games for spectators.

"Many looking forward to another successful season," he said.

"I think the teams will be more evenly balanced and we are looking forward to an exciting 16 week season."

Jeffrey said that with most of the teams remaining fairly well in the offense good games for 2007.

"Crowd numbers were good last year, especially in Port Augusta's first three seasons to ever," he said.

"They were good in the first half of our year in Port Pits but fell out in the second half."

And while the competition this year is more even than that in the last year hailed a success

Aspiring young Port Augusta footballers were treated to a special footy clinic last week for Harmony Day.

More than 100 children attended the event, who were taught different skills by Shannon Medley and Zac Millar from the North Adelaide football club and Duun von Senden, the SANFL Indigenous and multicultural development coordinator.

Representatives of the Port Augusta Harmony Office attended the event, and donated footballs and sporting vouchers for prizes for some of the children.

The clinic was funded by a grant from the Department of Immigration and Citizenship to the South Australia football club for Harmony Day.

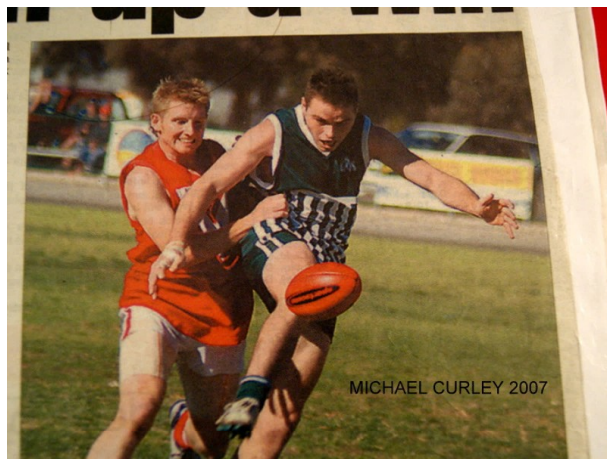

Following the clinic, the football club hosted a dinner and presentations with Shannon Medley, Zac Millar and Duun von Senden.
